

I highly support our national organization ARRL in their Petition to change the license structure for Amateur Radio licenses. It is the fairest plan and gives great opportunity to be a ham radio operator. I have been a Ham since 1973 and hold the Advance Class License. By withholding the 20 meter band from the lower classes it will give some incentive to upgrade to Extra Class License.

You will note that some of the other 3 proposals have a power limitation on certain bands. This is very difficult to determine if an operator was running the required under 50 watts on certain bands. Most every rig on the market on the HF bands run 100 watts, some more.
